THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR AUGUST 15—

BASED ON THE INTERNATIONAL BIBLE LESSON

FOR CHRISTIAN TEACHING—By R. W. LANIER

Subject—Self-Discipline for Growth (Temperance).

Before beginning the study of any subject, we first have to refer to the source material. So, please read Matthew 16:24-25; 1 Corinthians 9:24-27; Hebrews 12:1-4. Assuming you have read the Scriptures, the discussion follows. In the passages referred to, it is not difficult for us to understand that God expects us to use self-discipline. Self-control so to speak. Plant life cannot discipline itself. Roses (climbing roses), trees, tomatoes, etc., have to be pruned and staked and tied up, else they run aimlessly around, entwining themselves into other plant life, resulting in a poor harvest and poor fruit. Not so with us. We are human beings. God has made us in His own image, and we are given the capacity to think and to live in terms of purpose if we will. Our lives need not crawl all over the place like a tangledwood. We are expected to bear fruit and good fruit it should be like the well pruned and well cared for tree or bush.

Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. — Matthew 16:24. Well, you are wondering by this time, What is the meaning of this? Surely it does not mean to deny something to self, but rather to deny something to self as the controlling center of life. From now on, we must accept Jesus as Master, or Lord of life. Certainly "To take up one's cross" doesn't mean to endure inevitable trouble, but to endure hardship in the service of others for the sake of Christ. By meeting these conditions, we will not suffer loss, etc., but without question we enter a larger, fuller, freer, and richer life for the Saviour has said "Whoever would save his life shall lose it; and whoever shall lose his life for my sake shall find it."

Space does not permit a discussion of all the passages of Scripture contained in today's lesson, but we all know that self-restraint is a necessity that all of us should practice, else somewhere along the line we are headed for trouble. The Bible says (if a good one) does not deliberately break training and expect to "win the prize" or "win the prize." He must be ready at all times, physically and mentally to do his very best in order for him to win. "Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run that ye may obtain." — 1 Corinthians 9:24. The outcome of our Christian race is far more important than the outcome of our athletic contest. A matter of paramount concern with no earthly prize at stake, but a crown of righteousness.

It is up to the Christian to put himself under strict discipline in order to be able to run the race of life. Well, we may say, "It is perfectly lawful for me to do this or that for the sake of the question should be asked, 'Will I be able to run the Christian race better by doing this or doing that?' By excessive eating, drinking, smoking, etc., will I be in better training to do God's will? Can I serve others best by this kind of life or would it be better to be temperate in all things? The latter seems to be the answer. An athlete strips himself of all cumbersome clothing. So should we strip ourselves of the "Sin which clings so closely." Get rid of the things and sins "which so easily beset us," for we should remember that "we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses."

Last of all we should seek God's help in things that tempt us and which we know are wrong. "Looking unto Jesus, the author and perfecter of our faith, who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is seated at the right hand of the throne of God. Consider Him who endured from sinners such hostility against himself, so that you may not grow weary or faint-hearted. In your struggle against sin you have not yet resisted to the point of shedding your blood." — Hebrews 12:1-4.
